

When are the indices calculated?

Answer

The indices are computed quarterly and published on the tenth day of the new quarter for a value date at the end of the previous quarter. All indices are computed and released together, including debt and equity indices and custom benchmarks.

See for example the maintenance policy for equity indices.

Things to consider

Public holidays may lead to the release of indices and benchmarks a few days later than the originally planned date.

Related topics

- Index Maintenance